The photograph may have some merit and value in relation to social and cultural matters. As a statement or exploration of Judaism and feminism the image contributes to representation of a community relatively marginalised in New Zealand society. In addition, issues such as the image raises appear to be subject to ongoing discussion and debate at least in Reform congregations, if not also Orthodox, within contemporary New Zealand Jewry.

Since the photograph is classified as unrestricted, no limit has been imposed on the freedom of expression affirmed in s14 of the New Zealand Bill of Rights Act 1990.
